About:
As California Substance Use Disorder (SUD) treatment programs focus on treating the rising number of stimulant use disorders that occur concomitant with opioid use disorders, there is a growing need for evidence-based interventions to address the stimulant use. This two-hour training will present an introductory level orientation to the theory, principles, and practice of contingency management (CM). The legal and regulatory environment for implementing CM will be discussed. Tailoring CM to be implemented in specific settings will be addressed. Ample time will be allowed for questions and discussion about individual implementation efforts.

Educational Objectives:
- Identify the three essential elements common to all contingency management approaches.
- Distinguish at least two factors to consider when identifying the reinforcers to use in a CM program.
- Determine which three of the seven “founding principles” are most relevant to developing and implementing a CM program in their program/organization.
- Formulate at least two “action steps” needed to move forward with implementing a CM program in their particular treatment setting.
