

Learning Partnership Presents:

REFLECTIVE PRACTICE PART II

Completion of Reflective Practice Part I is a Prerequisite.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This training is designed for providers responsible for or moving into the role of providing reflective supervision, consultation, or facilitating with groups and/or individuals of all disciplines. The workshop focuses on neurobiological concepts, competencies, ethical concerns, skills, and goals related to supporting other providers in their reflective work. The skills needed to establish the “safe space” for reflection will be highlighted along with models to support quality reflection for transforming practice. This program will build on each participant’s current skills, past experience, and personal journey in examining and expanding their own work with clients of all ages, and in supporting others to do the same.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

When providing Reflective Supervision the training participants will be able to:

- Identify at least 4 ways to support the supervisee in rotating perspective.
- Effectively apply at least 3 strategies for supporting quality reflective sessions
- Identify the difference between Reflective Supervision and psychotherapy.
- Explain the elements of the RICHEST model.
